ITINERARY

Day 1 Welcome to Adelaide

A city of surprises, surrounded by parklands, history and offers great food and wine. Adelaide has much to offer from it's stunning flora of the Botanic Gardens, secret laneways and memorable experiences including climbing the Adelaide oval and Sunset with the dolphins there is some around every bend.

Day 2 Adelaide to Port Augusta

Your South Australian outback journey begins starting with a leisurely drive which takes you along amazing Spencer Gulf. Once in Port Augusta, it's a must to visit the "Time Tunnel" at Wadlata Outback Centre which isn't any old tourist centre. Take a 360 degree view from the water tower lookout and take a hike to the Matthew Flinders Red Cliffs Lookout.

Day 3 – 4 Rawnsley Park Station/The Flinders Rangers

For the next couple of days, you will be exploring the amazing Flinders Ranges and South Australia outback. The Flinders Ranges are one of the oldest mountains on earth with many significant geological sites with excellent bush walking trails, an abundance of wildlife, and dense vegetation. It's some of the most stunning landscapes you will see.

Rawnsley Park Station offers a great range of exploration trips including a 4WD to the best view to watch the sunset looking over the Flinders. Experience how a merino sheep station operates or treat yourself with a scenic flight to fully understand the Flinders Ranges landscape or take a heli-hike into the Chace Ranges.

Day 6 Rawnsley Park Station to Barossa Valley

Today you will travel back towards Adelaide via the Barossa Valley, internationally-acclaimed wine region. With 80 cellar doors including Penfolds, Jacobs Creek, Seppeltsfield, large range of cafes and restaurants to sample delicious local produce and the must-visit artisan chocolate and ice cream the Barossa Chocolate company there is a flavour for everyone.

Day 7 Farewell South Australia

if you have time stop by the Barista Sista beanery and coffee roasters for a great 'cuppa' and light lunch to delight your taste buds once more before heading off.
